HEAVYSAURUS

Heavysaurus announce the 'Pommesgabel Tour 2024' and their new album. The band of four dinosaurs and a dragon delivers family-friendly rock with child-friendly lyrics and a spectacular show. The album 'Pommesgabel' will be released on 2 February 2024 and tells the story of these music-making prehistoric creatures in new songs.

Once again, 'Heavysaurus' offers powerful riffs, great melodies and rousing drum beats to which the little (or big) listeners can sing, dance and freak out as they please. Real rock music, sometimes wild, sometimes quiet, with lyrics especially for the youngest fans. The band delights 3 to 11-year-olds and their companions of all ages with a unique concert experience with real instruments, light spectacles, fog, showers of sparks, balloons and confetti. And of course with songs that many children (and parents) can already sing along to, such as 'Kaugummi ist mega', 'Stark wie ein Tiger' and of course 'Rarr', the dinos' battle cry that many laughing mouths love to shout along to. All five green-scaled musicians are also looking forward to finally playing new songs from the 'Pommesgabel' album.

'We've always been keen to teach children to enjoy rock music and heavy metal,' explains singer Mr Heavysaurus. 'We're happy to be able to offer some little fans their very first concert experience! Everyone in the band has loved live music for, well, 65 million years. It's great when our little friends enjoy it just as much.'

By the way: In 2024, the young dino metalheads will once again be able to meet Riffi Raffi (guitar), Muffi Puffi (bass), Komppi Momppi (drums), Milli Pilli (keyboards) and of course Mr Heavysaurus in person. There will be a limited number of VIP tickets available, giving the youngest fans the chance to meet the dinosaurs, shake their paws and take photos.
