ON THE TRAIL OF THE BEAVERS

With their eyes fixed on the marshes and accompanied by a biologist, the observers go to the places appreciated by beavers, hoping to meet one along the way.

With a flashlight in hand, night visitors arm themselves with patience and calm in the hope of seeing the biggest native rodent in Europe.

This excursion takes place in full respect of the natural reserve's rules, on the paths accessible to the public. To not disturb the birds and to facilitate their observation, dogs are not welcomed.
